

Ignite Your Digital Banking

Simply Better Banking

A better choice for you and your users.

Digital banking is all about choice – letting consumers choose exactly when, where and how they want to conduct business. At Jwaala, we believe that choice is important to our customers, too. We created the Ignite platform to adapt to the way you do business, putting you in complete control of this critical and growing channel.

Simply put, the Ignite platform allows you to custom-tailor the perfect solution for your users and your institution.

In-house or hosted.

Jwaala believes that the choice of delivery models should be yours and yours alone. Whether you're more comfortable with an in-house solution or prefer to let us host the system from our highly secure data center, Jwaala supports the model that best meets your needs. And because our in-house and hosted solutions are identical in every way, you have the option to switch delivery models later should your needs change.

Asset-based pricing.

At Jwaala, we want to be partners in your success, not an obstacle to your success. Our asset-based pricing is unprecedented in the industry and ensures that your digital banking expenses remain consistent and predictable. When you deploy the Ignite platform, you keep the money you save driving business to the digital channel.

A flexible, customizable platform that you can't outgrow.

Jwaala is committed to putting you in complete control of the digital channel. We provide the most flexible, customizable digital banking platform in the industry. And because the changes you make are driven by our published software development kit (SDK), you don't have to worry about your custom enhancements "breaking" due to a new Ignite software release.

Any device.

The best device for digital banking is the one the consumer wants to use. Our elegant, full-featured user interface ensures a consistent experience across all smartphones, tablets and personal computers.

Experience that counts

At Jwaala, we're proud to have achieved the 100-institution milestone. Our proven digital banking solutions are fueling the growth and success of progressive financial institutions around the country. Our solutions are also among the fastest to deploy in the industry. Regardless of your institution's size, we can have you fully up and running in three to four months.

Different where it really matters

If you believe that control is important – from how your digital banking platform is delivered to how it's presented to end users to how much it costs you – the Ignite platform is your only real choice.
